Painter and sculptor

About me

I grew up in a family that mastered the art of painting, where my artistic talent emerged from childhood by drawing simple pictures. I realized that I should be interested in the arts, even though my family was in a bad economic situation. I joined the Faculty of Fine Arts but the economic situation prevented me from continuing the study. Despite all this, I practiced art through painting murals in institutions, schools and kindergartens and expanded until I mastered the art of sculpture by cement. In previous years, I became very passionate about entering the field of external decoration, where the design of the gardens became the facade I seek. And others, and distinguished from other artists that I gained experience and great skill through my field work and became a name known in my country.
